Yard sale, barbecue plate sale to help Gollott family

Submitted by Lena Kuhn

VANCLEAVE — Friends of Mike and Barb Gollott, of Vancleave, plan a benefit yard sale and lunch plate sale starting at 9 a.m. Saturday in front of Burnham Drug Store on Miss. 57.

The couple will travel to the University of Birmingham Hospital next week where Mike Gollott will undergo testing for a possitraining costs.

"That keeps us in line with what the county pays," City Manager Kay Kell said.

The new rates will be applied during a Feb. 12 special election in which Chip Cole, Frank Corder and Brandon Turner are trying to replace former Ward 4 Councilman Mike Mangum, who now serves on the Board of Supervisors.

The last pay increase for city election poll workers was approved in November 1995.

matter, which was nearing the beginning stage before the DOE announced recently that it would perform another Environmental Impact Statement, hold new hearings and consider a new process.

The Jackson County Board of Supervisors approved the resolution Monday.

Richards, of Pascagoula, a member of the Gulf Conservation Coalition, said the economic and environmental impact for Jackson County
